자료 소개

Theatre Performance & Design Collection is the first comprehensive, international collection that covers all aspects of theater from production and design to performance, from the 17th century through to the present day, including set design, lighting design, sound design, costume design, and makeup.

Theatre Performance & Design Collection brings together Alexander Street's premiere collections of video performances, audio dramas, and designs. Combining the most important video content types used in theatre education—filmed stage performances, masterclasses, and documentaries with teaching tools—playlists, video clips, on-screen transcripts, and production designs, there really is no better way for faculty to bring the brilliance of stage into their classrooms.

INCLUDED IN THE COLLECTION ARE:

- 390+ audio plays from L.A. Theatre Works
- 950+ hours of filmed stage performances, documentaries, and video training materials, including over 100 premium performances from the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC), Royal Shakespeare Company, and U.K.'s National Theatre
- 100,000 pages of primary and secondary design resources, including sketches, photographs, technical drawings, monographs, articles, and dissertations
- 40,000 pages of monumental reference works, encyclopedias, images, flyers, playbills, postcards, scrapbooks, and other resources

At this time in history, Madame C.J. Walker was pioneering the development of hair care products for African Americans. Suffragettes begin to make simpler hairstyle choices to complement more masculinely tailored clothes. Movies also begin to influence fashion. Late in the decade, dancer Irene Castle begins to make short hair popular, a trend that would explode in popularity in the 1920s.

The hair was often cropped so short that the skin was visible through the hair over the ears.

The occasional neatly groomed mustache could still be found during this period, but the trend was generally toward being clean shaven.
